Governor Fine Praises Efforts To Restore Canal

NEW HOPE, Sept. 12 — The Delaware Valley Protective Association at its 20th annual meeting here last night was lauded by Gov. John S. Fine for its efforts in preserving the beauty of the Delaware Valley.

At the same time the association cited State Sen. Edward B. Watson for his help in obtaining funds to restore the historic Delaware Canal. The Senator was presented with a plaque by Dr. W. Wilson McNeary, president of the association.

There is now water in the Pennsylvania side of the canal from Easton to Bristol, Dr. McNeary said. He said one of the greatest hopes of the association is to bring the old barges back so that nostalgic barge parties can be held again.

Cities Plans
Other projects call for the improvement of River road, Route 32, and purification of water in streams, canals and the Delaware river.

Some 300 members were present at the meeting in the New Hope High School Memorial Gymnasium which saw the re-election of Dr. McNeary as president of the association for his fourth consecutive term.

The proposals were outlined by Roland Rodrock Randall, former vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, at a luncheon meeting of the Delaware County Real Estate Board.

He said the present Delaware River Bridge has already reached a point of stagnation in regard to traffic. He also called attention to delays in the start of construction of the new bridge from South Philadelphia to Gloucester, N. J.

Accord 'Possible' On Center Levies

TULLYTOWN, Sept. 12 — Hope that agreement on acceptance of a higher tax assessment for the Levittown shopping center may be reached between owners Levitt and Sons, Inc., and Tullytown Borough, was expressed yesterday by Councilman Arthur F. Leigh.

"I feel that we will reach an accord on the tax assessment without having to appeal the matter," Leigh said.

However, he declared that representatives of Levitt and members of Borough Council were "far apart" on the matter when it was discussed at a meeting last Tuesday. Another meeting is being arranged, Leigh said.

The shopping center is assessed at $345,000 which council members think is too low.

County Republicans To Discuss Plans For Fall Election

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 12 — Republican candidates for Bucks County offices will discuss plans for their Fall campaigns Monday at the meeting of the Loyal Republican Club of Bucks County in Buckingham, it was reported.

The issues will be outlined by two of the candidates. One is Judge Edward H. Satterthwaite, third judge of the common pleas court who is Republican choice for a full ten-year term. The other is Donald W. Vanartsdalen, candidate for District Attorney to succeed the incumbent Willard S. Curtin.

State Senator Edward B. Watson, president of the club, and Carroll Michener, secretary, announced the Monday program would include entertainment.

They said another club meeting, scheduled for Oct. 12 would be a "Candidates Night" celebration during which state and county candidates would be on hand.

False Alarm Brings Police

LEVITTOWN, Sept. 12 — The burglar alarm of the Bristol Trust Company in the shopping center sounded at 11:45 p.m. yesterday.

Vincent Maglio, lieutenant in the Levittown Guard Service, Inc., who was in the area made a quick check of front and back doors of the establishment and called police. No intruder was sighted. Apparently a short circuit caused the alarm to ring, a bank official reported.

Fly Swatter Rams Into Bridge Rail

The Rev. John Henry Baker, 75, 325 Maple street, Langhorne, required five stitches over the bridge of his nose and suffered a cut of the left hand when he lost control of his car yesterday morning and crashed into a bridge railing.

Patrolman Joseph A. Zlot, Jr., of the Middletown Township police, said the accident occurred on a creek near Woodbourne road, about a quarter-mile north of the Reading Railroad station in the township.

According to the officer, Rev. Baker became preoccupied with swatting flies in his car with one hand while driving and lost control of the vehicle.

Joseph Peach, who lives near the bridge, took Rev. Baker to the office of Dr. Richard Bond in Langhorne, where he was discharged following treatment.

Tullytown Hits Shopping Center Assessment Rate

Day-Long Hearing Set For Appeals By Commissioners

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 12 — The contention of Tullytown Borough Council and Tullytown School Board that the Levittown Shopping Center is assessed at too low a rate will be heard on Thursday here by the Board of Assessments and Revision of Taxes.

It was announced, at the same time, by the Bucks County Commissioners, that a similar appeal aimed at a revision of the assessments charged the Fairless Works of the U. S. Steel Corp. and real estate developments in Falls Township, will be heard on Friday.

Falls Groups Appeal
The latter appeal has been filed by Falls Township Supervisors and the Falls Township School Board.

A full day of hearings has been set aside for both appeals according to Commissioner John T. Welsh. They will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the county commissioners' chambers.

Assessment figures recently made available for public inspection disclosed that the shopping center and its 60-acre site had been assessed currently at $345,390 on a valuation of $1,151,300.

Steel's Assessment
A Falls Township protest group headed by Clifford Watson, president of the supervisors, and John M. Custer, assistant secretary, made the charge that U. S. Steel's current assessment of $1,782,370 failed to take into consideration all the property and equipment at the Fairless works.

They particularly pointed to the corporation's blast furnace and coke ovens, valued at more than $10,000,000, which they say is an integral part of the corporation's plant setup and not merely equipment.

The show, under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. H. Cocklin, Glenside, will be open for the final time today from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. at the Community House, Philmont avenue. There are a total of 432 exhibits, featuring everything from statuary to the homely gourd.

County Planners Fix Discussions For Local Officials

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 12 — A series of discussions tailored to fit the needs of government officials in Bucks County and which is unprecedented in Pennsylvania was announced for Sept. 30 starting date, yesterday by Franklin C. Wood, chairman of the Bucks County Planning Commission.

Wood said the decision to run the series was made because of continuing requests from borough and township officials for information of community topics.

The series will include such topics as local powers for community development, zoning, the benefits of joint operation, garbage and refuse collection and disposal, the park and recreational needs of the county, and similar subjects.

The discussion will be held at the Council Rocks High School in Newtown every Wednesday evening at 8 for six weeks. The last of the series will be held Nov. 4.

The project is sponsored by the planning commission and the Public Service Institute of the Department of Public Instruction in Harrisburg in co-operation with the Bucks County Boroughs Association and the Association of Townships.

Speakers invited to lead panel discussions include Francis A. Pitkin, director of the State planning board; Paul Mishkin, professor of law at the University of Pennsylvania Law School, and Daniel Llewellyn, township manager of Newtown Township, Delaware County.

Firemen Quell Trailer Blaze, Junk Auto Fire

Defective wiring caused a fire about 8 p.m. last night in a trailer occupied by Mrs. Wilson Ferrel at Route 13 and Fourth avenue, Bristol Fire Chief Clifford Hagerman reported.

The fire, which started in a clothes closet and spread to the ceiling of the trailer, caused some $400 damage to the trailer. About $300 worth of clothing was also damaged.

An unidentified neighbor spotted the fire and phoned firemen. Mrs. Ferrel was not at home at the time. Consolidated Fire Company No. 3 extinguished the flames with booster lines. Other trailers in the area were not in danger, Chief Hagerman said.

Consolidated Fire Company and Goodwill Hose Company No. 3 also answered an alarm yesterday afternoon on Old Route 13, near Mill street. They put out a fire starting in a group of old cars in a junk yard. Firemen said the fire may have been started by children.

Consolidated Fire Company was called again to put out a grass fire along Old Route 13 later in the afternoon.

Hot-Rodder Trio Gets Jail Terms In Theft of Parts

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 12 — Three young Philadelphia hot-rod fans were sentenced to nine months to two years in Eastern State Penitentiary yesterday by Judge Hiram H. Keller in Quarter Sessions Court on charges of stealing $2,862 worth of high-speed equipment to soup-up their cars.

The three admitted they went "crazy" over expensive high-speed parts for their cars. They are: Nelson R. Belford, 22, of Ridge avenue, Ronald F. Ford, 22, of Swarthmore, and Bawilla L. Schlesman, 20, near Norristown.

They were charged with stealing parts from the Sell-Park Ford Co. garage in Quakertown Jan. 8. They were arrested May 25 at their place of work, the United Pattern Company, Conshohocken, where they earned between $50 and $60 weekly.

Two other Philadelphia youths, John Hanley, 18, of 3300 Friendship street and Thomas Francis McGinnis, 17, of 5445 Erdick street, were placed on one-year probation. They were charged with stealing from a parked car in Bensalem Township Aug. 6. They were caught by Patrolman Joseph Pichotti.

The boys testified they had been ordered by adult men to steal car accessories which they could sell. Judge Keller remarked there were too many court cases originating in Northeast Philadelphia involving youths who hopped into automobiles and made forays into Lower Bucks County.

Thomas Barry, formerly of New Hope, now of Philadelphia, was sentenced to nine months in the county jail on charges of robbing a poor box and offering boxes in St. Martin's Catholic Church, New Hope.

County Rescuers Aid Ill Driver

Notes Already Purchased By Farmers Bank

The $80,000 bond issue voted in a referendum in the May 19 primary elections for the extension and improvement of Bristol Borough's water system, has just been approved by the State Department of Internal Affairs; The Courier learned today.

Some members of council asked for comment this morning had not yet received the news.

As a matter of fact, though, all bonds have been purchased by the Farmers National Bank on a single bid a little more than a month ago.

The sale had been arranged by Harold F. Hunter, borough treasurer and John D. Fullam, borough solicitor.

Livingston Joyce, borough engineer, said today that although the funds were specifically earmarked for improvement of the water system here, the borough has carte blanche as to how it plans to use it.

Joyce said that matter has been far from resolved. He expected the question might come up for serious discussion at the next meeting of council.

Of No Use
He emphasized that such side issues as repair of mains and present equipment, the possible laying of new pipes and similar resources were strictly of no use.

"This borough's problem is simply that we must get more water," he said.

Joyce thought that one course of action might lie in bringing more water down from the Edgely field. Previously, it seemed to be generally agreed that the borough would run a 16-inch line down from Edgely for this purpose, but he was not at all sure they might do this today.

"We don't know exactly what we may do in this respect," he said, "until we discover just how much water there is in the Edgely field to bring down."

It did seem likely, however, he indicated, that now that the bond

2 Vermont Youths Are Sentenced To Eastern State Pen

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 12 — Two Vermont youths who pleaded guilty to a series of offenses in New York and Pennsylvania, were sentenced to from two and half to five years in the Eastern State Penitentiary by President Judge Hiram H. Keller in Quarter Sessions Court yesterday.

The two, Henry Perrin, 19, of Burlington, Vt., and Clifford Johnson, 19, of Barre, were accused of stealing a truck from a farm near Plattsburgh, N. Y., abandoning it at Langhorne; stealing a car at Steacher's Inn there and robbing a taproom in Chester County. They were apprehended in Baltimore.

Reformatory Background
The boys, who have been in reformatory schools and the Vermont State Prison, told Bucks County Prison officials they preferred the Eastern State Penitentiary. "That's where we want to go," they said.

State Police Cpl. Charles A. Jones testified the pair stole a car Aug. 9 from Steacher's Inn which belonged to a Trenton, N. J., customer.

District Attorney Willard S. Curtin informed the Court that two detainees from Vermont have been lodged here against the two who were on probation when they fled the jurisdiction of Vermont.

Fined $5
Pleading guilty to larceny, receiving stolen goods, operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner, the two defendants were also sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution and a fine of $5.

"You two young men got off on the wrong foot," said President Judge Keller. They told tales of parental and parole officer mistreatment and unkindly conduct.

"We are glad the Judges sent us to the pen instead of the county prison," the defendants told Deputy Sheriff Melvin R. Meyers, as he returned them to the jail here after their sentencing.

Liberty Disciplined by Brotherly Love

All things are lawful for me, but all things are lawful for me, but all things edify not. Let no man seek his own, but every man another's wealth. Whatsoever is sold in the shambles, that eat, asking no question for conscience' sake. But if any man say unto you, But this is offered in sacrifice unto idols, eat not for his sake that showed it, and for conscience' sake: for the earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof: Conscience, I say, not thine own, but of the other: for why is my liberty judged of another man's conscience? For if I by grace be a partaker, why am I evil spoken of for that for which I gave thanks? Whatever therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God. 1 Cor. 10:23-32.

Today's Home Buyers Show Increasing Interest in Beauty of Wood

Color Main Factor In Wood Selection

Home buyers today are taking an increasing interest in the natural beauty of hardwood, utilizing it to a greater extent to enhance the attractiveness of their home interiors, builders assert.

For that reason the prospective home buyer, before selecting his oak floors and other hardwood items, would be well advised to know something about the varying natural color tones in which the woods are available.

As is pointed out in a new edition of the Southern Hardwood Buyers' Guide, "color possessed by different hardwoods may be an important factor in the selection of wood for certain architectural effects, and natural differences in color are often of great aid to the designer."

Heartwood is Darker
The guide explains that in some hardwoods the heartwood is distinctly darker than the sapwood. The heartwood comprises the inner portion of the tree, while the sapwood is just under the bark. Frequently the heartwood is more varied and striking in appearance. "The desirability for color uniformity or color variance," the guide adds, "depends on personal preference or the architectural effect desired. Uniformity in color can be obtained by specifying either all heartwood or all sapwood. If pronounced color variation is desirable, a mixture of heartwood and sapwood in the same pieces should be specified.

"It should be recognized that no two pieces of wood are identical in color or texture. In fact, this is one of the more important factors which are responsible for the inherent beauty of wood.

Variations Desirable
"For example, a single piece of wood will show slight variation in color when changed from end to end, or from side to side. Staining or bleaching will increase uniformity, but it seldom is desirable to take away all the variations which make wood beautiful."

For those who prefer a high degree of color uniformity in their oak floors, the Clear grade, either in quarter-sawn or plain-sawn stock, may be the most suitable choice. Those who find color variation more appealing may wish to consider one of the six other grades, such as plain-sawn Select or No. 1 Common.

THE HANDY HOMERS

Designers Revamp Kitchens

Designers are re-thinking kitchens—just in the nick of time.

The vague dissatisfaction of housewives who aren't supposed to get tired or depressed in some of today's kitchens—but do anyway—has become sharply vocal of late. (A sample: "Ever since I had to lie flat on my stomach on the kitchen floor to see if the broiler was lit in our new stove, I've brooded about the modern kitchen."—Sylvia Wright, writing in Harper's Magazine, August 1953.)

Actually, the modern kitchen—when thought of as a collection of hygienic-looking fixtures—has already begun to give way to designs for greater working comfort and psychological lift.

Working Comfort

Working comfort means a good many things in the new kitchens. Adjustable counter heights take the hump out of the tall woman's shoulders and eliminate the stretch for the shorter woman. The researchers have measured stoops and bends too. Some of the results are waist-high ovens, broilers and refrigerator units. They are built-in units, inserted into cabinets where desired. Top burner units are set into a convenient work surface area. The burners may be near the oven or not. The emphasis is on good "work center" arrangement to save the housewife's motion—up, down and sideways.

Cabinets to hold these cooking and refrigerating units and to provide flexible arrangements for storage and work space have been engineered to help the housewife both technically and psychologically.

Natural Wood

Most of the cabinets featured in previews for the building products industry have been presented in natural wood finish or in wood painted cheerful colors. That's where the psychological lift comes in. It's not only the warmth and cheerfulness of the wood and of color, but it means that the kitchen, once divorced from the rest of the house as a kind of laboratory, has been brought back into the family living pattern. In many new houses, it is a main part of the "open living" area.

Best known of the new designs is the Cornell kitchen, which was developed after several years of research by state and federal agencies and of product design by the Cornell University Housing Research Center in collaboration with several business firms. Although not yet in production, it is expected to be the main influence in future engineered kitchens.

Natural wood finish ranked as top choice with families who saw an exhibit of the Cornell kitchen units.

Poll Conducted

"In a poll conducted among 1000 families who saw it, 40 per cent indicated a preference for kitchen cabinets with a natural wood finish," the Cornell report stated. The remainder of those polled were divided evenly among those who preferred cabinets finished in color and those who preferred cabinets finished in white, according to Glenn H. Beyer, editor of the report and director of the university's housing research center.

This meant that more than two out of three families favored either natural wood or color finish. Anticipating this kitchen cabinet preference trend, at least one manufacturer has already come out with new-type cooking units that are available not only in stainless steel but also in porcelain enamel in pastel colors to harmonize with the new kitchen decorative scheme. And cabinet makers are already turning out cabinets into which the new waist-high ovens, broilers and refrigerator units can be fitted.

How To Install Plastic Sills

from SMALL HOMES GUIDE

Window sills take a lot of abuse, so it's good news that a durable plastic one is on the market. Here are directions from Small Homes Guide on how to install the new type sill.

Framing for the sill is prepared in the conventional manner.

Be sure to nail at the edge, where plaster will conceal them.

Attachment of plumb molding and plastering completes the job.

Two nails are driven in at each end to hold the plastic in place.

Make Child's Pen From Household Odds And Ends

NEW YORK, Sept. (INS) — A large packing carton, some old rugs or fabric and a set of plastic measuring spoons from the kitchen can make an indoor play-pen for baby.

Any huge carton will make the base. Try to get at least three by four feet. The big ones in which mattresses are shipped will hold your baby and the neighbor's children, too.

Cut down the sides of the carton to about a ten-inch depth. If baby is very active, make it higher.

Then line the inside with the old rugs (washed, of course) or soft fabric so that it will be both warm and comfortable.

The plastic measuring spoons are for decoration and play. They have smoother edges, are a little too big to swallow, and are colorful. Hang them at the sides of the carton play-pen, singly or in bunches. The play pen won't be so sturdy as a wood one, but it costs practically nothing to make or replace. It also has the advantage of being very light to move around, and soft enough not to hurt if baby bangs against it.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Oh my father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me; nevertheless not as I will but as thou wilt. Mat. 26:39.

It was God's will that the Christ should set a magnificent example of concern and solicitation for his cruel enemies. Not many have learned this lesson. We want our enemies to suffer for their cruelty.

MUSIC IS FUN

Trials of practicing were discussed at a convention of the International Piano Teachers' Association in New York City. A Boston piano teacher, Ernest Weidner, asserted the undoubted truth that "music is for fun." Attempting to force a Bach fugue on a child, he said, is to risk spoiling a child's love for music.

But is it true, as this teacher seems to believe, that a child can be led to the classics through popular music? Would it help to take down from music studio walls the pictures of famous composers whose faces are "more formidable than Dracula?" The surroundings are to be bright, the music is to be popular and practice is to consist, for the greater part, of learning one line a day of a piece.

The object of all this, according to Weidner, is not to produce first-rate musicians, who, at all events, are rare exceptions, but to create a world of music lovers. But, of course, a so-called music appreciation course might accomplish this without piano instruction.

It is an undoubted fact that there is no more a short cut to learning the technique of the piano than there is a shortcut to painting, writing, singing or other forms of self-expression. Perhaps the drudgery of practice can be disguised, but it is not to be avoided. It does not take long for a child to learn the rudiments. After that, once he begins to play tunes, if he has any aptitude at all, and if he keeps at it, he enjoys the piano.

Out of that enjoyment come the permanent satisfactions to the spirit of the great world of music, which is indeed fun.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 12

—Born today, you have a vitally dynamic personality which projects itself forcefully upon all those with whom you come in contact. Your originality in both the spoken and written word will always give you full opportunity to put over your ideas. Since you enjoy excitement and novelty, you will sometimes project an idea just to see what happens. Quite unconventional in your approach to conventional problems, you enjoy introducing the "shock treatment," intellectually to wake up those you feel may be only half awake, culturally.

You will probably make a reputation for yourself as an astute critic in your own times. The one danger is that you may become destructive in your criticisms rather than creatively constructive. This weakens your ultimate value. Almost anyone can find fault with things as they are. It takes real genius to find the right solution and then apply it.

You are high-tempered and inclined to be impatient if things do not work out as you might wish.

Your friends will probably consider all this "artistic temperament," but your critics will think it bad manners, as well as plain ill temper.

You are sensitive to your home environment and unless it is suitable, you can be very unhappy. If this happens, take steps to correct it at once for you cannot do your best work under conditions which lack harmonious aspects. Wed someone who is willing to take a back seat and let you run the show! Interested in science, philosophy and even the occult sciences,

you might easily make an important contribution to the world's knowledge in one of these fields.

Live up to the best that is within you and an early success is yours.

The Child Learns To Conform

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

SOME parents and teachers in our democracy, disgusted with the constant demands on children and adults in totalitarian countries to conform to tyrannical regulations, suppose they should not teach children to conform at all. Indeed, a few parents and teachers interpret democracy at home and school as letting every person do about as he pleases.

But that's virtually anarchy.

There's nothing in the basic principles of democracy which denies conformity to reasonable regulations. You and I can't drive down a street without conforming to certain traffic rules. We can't drive our car from our garage without conforming to the law requiring us to have a license plate on our car. You easily could name a score of things you must do or are not allowed to do because of certain governmental regulations. Every citizen of our nation must learn to conform to these regulations. Nevertheless, we wisely and proudly acclaim

our freedoms and our democracy.

We Elect Lawmakers

Human experiences make it obvious that there must be certain regulations (laws) for the protection and welfare of all of us. Yet in our democracy we have a voice in making these regulations. We elect persons to draw up the necessary laws. But children don't vote for these representatives.

Excepting in a few places, they don't vote till they are twenty-one, though there is strong public sentiment that they should be able to at eighteen.

In the home, even in the school,

most parents and teachers wisely let children, long before they are eighteen, have a voice in making certain regulations for the common good of the respective groups. Even before the child is five or six he may have a voice

IN THE LOCAL FIELD

Souderton 11 Tramps Warriors Down 33-19 On Bristol Grid

A powerful Souderton High eleven did its scoring early last night to triumph over Bristol High, 33-19, on the local gridiron, in the opening game of the season for both teams. An estimated crowd of 2000 witnessed visitors subdue the Bristol gridsters.

Souderton scored in the first three quarters, piling up a 33-0 lead before Bristol hit pay dirt. Souderton registered 10 first downs to Bristol's 9.

Bob Famous, junior halfback for the invaders, scored three touchdowns on runs of 19, 45, and 60 yards. He also pitched two extra point passes. However, the feature run of the game was by Glenn Schell in the opening session. Schell picked up a Bristol punt on his 10, ran 30 yards cross field, and then scampered 99 yards along the sidelines for a sensational touchdown. The other Souderton score was on a 33-yard run by Bill Coale.

Larry Cohen was the principal yard-gainer for Bristol. He scored two of the touchdowns, one on a pass from Conca; passed to Russ Johnson for the third touchdown and was responsible for the point after touchdown by throwing a successful aerial to Andy Gall.

On the Defense — Defensively, it was Eddie Conca and Tom Brescia for the Warriors with Wilkins doing nice work for the winners. Wayne Bloodgood, Bristol end, suffered a possible fractured wrist in the game.

Souderton made its first score early. Schell kicked off for Souderton with Conca returning the ball five yards to the Bristol 33. Gall picked up a pair of yards. A pass, Conca to Dom Sottile, was incomplete. Cohen booted to the visitors' 22. Coale broke loose on the first play and eluded several would-be tacklers by skimming to the Bristol 39. Famous ploughed the line for 3, and then Coale went 36 yards for the touchdown. Famous try for the extra point failed when the pass from center was low.

Schell kicked off to Johnson on the Bristol 32. There was no return on the play. Cohen hit the line for naught. Conca and Cohen were good for 6 so Cohen kicked to the invaders' 28. Schell lost a yard. Famous was stopped by Brescia and

Morrisville Drops Opening Game To Upper Moreland

WILLOW GROVE, Sept. 12 — Morrisville High lost its season's opener here last night, bowing to Upper Moreland High, 6-0, in a closely-played game.

The only touchdown of the game was scored in the second period by Ralph Stewart on a drive of 61 yards. A Morrisville punt rolled to the 12 where it was picked up by Stewart and carried back to the 39. Charlie Loughrey picked up 4 yards and Stewart made a first on the 43. A pass, Stewart to Jerry Cornell, was completed for a first on the Morrisville 23. Stewart hit the line for 3 and on two tries, Bill Yeager went to the 3. Loughrey lugged it to the 1 from where Stewart took it over.

Morrisville threatened in the first quarter, going to the Upper Moreland 33 on a sustained march of 57 yards. In the final quarter, it got as far as Upper Moreland's 27 before yielding the ball.

Morrisville's Bob Brewer, 185-lb. sophomore back, played outstanding ball in the game.

Though comparatively few owners train their bird dogs, or rabbit or coon hounds, in mid-summer's heat and dryness the dog training season is now in effect in Pennsylvania. It came in August 1 and will continue to March 31, inclusive, 1954. Sunday training is lawful but, except on publicly-owned lands, consent of the owner of the property where such training is contemplated must first be secured.

The Affenpinscher dog is of the toy type, and resembles a monkey more than it does a dog. Even its screaming is monkey-like. The breed is of German origin, with only a few individuals to be found in the United States.

LANGHORNE, Sept. 12 — Bill Tanner and Dave Terrell, both of Newtown, Red Tomlinson, Bristol, and Bill Errie, Philadelphia, will face the starting flag in the 250-mile Grand National Circuit Championship listed for Langhorne Speedway, Sunday, Sept. 20.

Tanner and Terrell have established a reputation for themselves in the events featuring the late model stock sedans. Terrell, a versatile manipulator of all types of racing equipment, has managed to finish among the leaders in several of the past Grand Nationals staged at the Bucks County course. Terrell, a former taxi driver, is also a fine performer in sportsman and modified stock competition. Red Tomlinson, a former thrill show performer, resided in Eddington, when the late Doc Mackenzie represented that section in big car racing. It was from Mackenzie that Tomlinson originally became interested in racing.
